by Colin A. Addley

ADDMORE provides full service to companies in the construction industry wanting to offshore departments without the hassle of forming or managing overseas entities.

We will recruit staff as per your job description upon your approval and engage them in accordance with a management agreement (minimum period of 12 months). We will arrange the office fixtures, fittings, and all utilities including the phone and internet for a monthly all-inclusive rate per person. We will purchase hardware and software to your requirements for a minimal handling fee. This is your team and you get to manage, direct, and control them. We will handle payroll and recruitment costs within our monthly fee.

Significant savings per person, skilled and available well-educated workforce.

There are so many advantages to having your team offshore without the continual increase to your fixed overhead that local employment incurs.
